DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, NOV. 20, 1833.

We have received, from Mr. Samuel A. Armour an Almanac, enclosed in a frame, and designed and fitted to be perpetual. The Almanac is compact, and neatly framed; and, with slight attention, at the beginning of each month, for which full directions are given, will be found efficient and useful.

CONGRESS.—We publish the list of Senators and Representatives. Our readers especially those in the country, will do well to preserve it, as we will probably not republish it at the beginning of the Session, which is now close at hand.

BANK OF PITTSBURGH.—At an election, held at the Banking House, on the 16th inst., the following persons were elected Directors of the institution for the ensuing year:

William H. Denny, James Brown, John Graham, Nathaniel Holmes, Lewis Hutchison, James Ross, jr., Hugh Davis, John Irwin, William Daily, Mm.M. Semple, John Caldwell, Neville B. Craig, and William A. Simpson.

THE BANK OF THE UNITED STATES.—Some days ago, we heard that the Girard Bank, of Philadelphia, had fallen in debt to the United States Bank in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars; and that, to enable it to pay, the Secretary of the Treasury had remitted to it a draft on the United States Bank for half a million, which was immediately paid.

The long article, which we publish to day, has, probably, reference to this transaction.—No doubt this is the first time, since the formation of our constitution, in which the credit of the government has been used to buoy up that of the Bank in which the funds of the nation were deposited for safe keeping. The very resort to such an expedient would seem to be an admission that the depository was not such as it should be.—Scarcely two months have elapsed since the funds were removing for safe keeping, when the depositor is compelled to interfere to sustain the bank of deposit.—Suppose some of our citizens had deposited a large sum of money in one of our banks, and that this bank had called upon the depositor with a declaration that if he did not give it further assistance, what he had deposited would be in danger—what would be thought of the wisdom of the depositor, who, under such circumstances, would set himself to work to bolster up this bank?

The Bank of the United States, it seems, promptly paid this draft—it no doubt acted wisely in so doing—though it might, with great propriety, have denied the legality of the draft, as is clearly shown in the article referred to.

MR. CATLIN'S PAINTINGS.—We publish, below, a note, from Mr. Catlin to the editor of the Louisville Herald, in relation to his likeness of Black Hawk, and will merely add that, while Mr. Catlin was exhibiting his paintings in this city, a number of gentlemen, who had seen that chief, declared that the likeness was exact and striking.

MR. CATLIN'S GALLERY.

MR. EDITOR.—In explanation of an article copied in your paper, a few weeks since, from the Philadelphia Commercial Herald, calculated to prejudice the public mind against my gallery of Indian portraits, I would briefly state, that the portrait of Black Hawk therein spoken of, was not my original portrait of that man, but a very small sketch, in water colors, the head not an inch in diameter, which was procured from me in St. Louis, and painted within the diminished limits which were carefully prescribed for it. This sketch might not have been a faithful likeness of Black Hawk. The original portrait, the size of life, will continue to stand in my gallery and speak for itself. I intend in a few days to lay the original before you, when you and the public who have seen Black Hawk, can be your own judges. All I desire is, that the public may withhold their decision until they can see for themselves, and not condemn the whole result of my hard labors, as the writer would have them, upon the above mentioned sketch.

With the writer's opinion of Mr. Audubon's talents I exactly agree. I know him not, but his works and his beautiful designs are familiar to me, and in our rambling lives, I should hail the day with pleasure that would bring me in contact with the man whose works seem to hold a rank between living nature and art.

GEO. CATLIN.

Correspondence of the Journal of Commerce.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8th, 1833.

One of the objects which will occupy Congress at the approaching session, will be the erection of suitable buildings for the accommodation of the Departments. The present edifices are unsafe, as the ruins of the Treasury Office testify, and they are, moreover, wholly insufficient in size for the accommodation of the numerous bureaus. Mr. M'Lane has suggested the expediency of erecting an edifice for the present and future accommodation of the Executive Departments, and this suggestion will be repeated in the President's Message. It is a great plan, and will, I trust, be adopted. The new structure may be made a monument of our advancement in the arts, and our success and glory as a nation. The square opposite the President's house would be a suitable site for the building. On either side of the President's house, where the public offices now stand, might be erected houses for the Secretaries. I see no reason why the Secretaries should not have houses fitted for their reception as well as the President. They have a better title than the President for this facility, for the reason that after removing hither and renting and furnishing a house, they may be, in three weeks' time, voluntarily or involuntarily, forced to break up, and go home.—The salaries of the Secretaries are also too small to enable them, with any convenience, to pay house rent in addition to the other expenses of a Washington residence, and it is seldom that they are men of much wealth. Many Secretaries have been beggared by their expenses here. The late Secretary of State, Mr. Livingston expended, while he was in office, eighteen thousand dollars more than his salary. I have little hope that the eleven millions surplus will be spent to better advantage than in those improvements;—but of that, more anon.

According to Bell's Weekly Messenger, of the 6th ult., associations to resist the payment of assessed taxes were multiplying in London and the outskirts, and there was too much reason to apprehend that they would become general in England.—Nat. Gaz.

From the N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

Lucius Lyon, Delegate

The above list embraces the names of 237 members, besides the three delegates. If to these be added 3 for the 3 vacancies, the whole number will be 240. Of the 237 elected, we have put down 77 as anti Jackson, to which should be added a dozen or twenty Nullifiers. Still there will be a decided majority in favor of the present Administration. The proportion is greater than in the last Congress, and there are more who are opposed to the United States Bank.

[a] Union man. All the other Representatives from South Carolina are Nullifiers.

[b] Franklin E. Plummer was elected from the other district, but has resigned, with a view to become a candidate for the United States Senate.

[c] The votes of one county were rejected, on account of some alleged illegality in the returns. Had these been received, Robert B. Letcher, an opposition man, would have succeeded by a majority of about 60.

‡We have put the names of four North Carolina Representatives down with the anti Jacksonians, marked with a †, at the suggestion of the Boston Advocate, though we are not sure they will all bear the distinction.

From the National Gazette.

The following argumentative opinions are from a high source entirely independent. They merit attentive consideration and deference in every quarter.

WHERE AND WHAT IS THE TREASURY?

Wherever the money of the United States is legally deposited, be it in one place or several, there is the Treasury. When the law appointed that this money should be deposited in the Bank of the United States, and it was so deposited, that Bank, in relation to that money, is the Treasury. This appears to be undeniably certain and clear. If it be not so, the Constitution, when it speaks of a Treasury, speaks of a nonentity, a phantasm; of something in the imagination, that has a name, but no "local habitation," no actual existence. A Treasury, says the Dictionary, "is a place where riches are accumulated;" and so the Constitution considers it when it declares that no money shall be drawn from it, &c. Drawn from what? from where? certainly, from the place where it was deposited as the public treasure.

The 9th section of the first article of the Constitution, declares that "no money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law;" and therefore, none of the money of the United States, can be drawn from the Bank of the United States, which is the Treasury as to that money, but "in consequence of appropriations made by law." Can this be questioned?

Is there any thing in the Charter of the Bank, or in the terms and conditions on which the public money has been there deposited, which alters or affects this constitutional provision? In the first place, if it were so intended, it would be utterly null and void, as the Constitution is supreme law, and cannot be changed or impaired by an Act of Congress. But there is nothing in the Act incorporating the Bank, which gives the least intimation of any such design. The 16th section enacts —"That the deposits of the money of the United States, in places where the said Bank and branches thereof may be established, shall be made in said bank or branches thereof, unless the Secretary of the Treasury shall, at any time, otherwise order and direct;" that is, the money shall no longer be deposited in this bank, if the Secretary shall otherwise order and direct. But there is not a syllable about withdrawing or transferring to any other place, the money that is there, at the pleasure or by the direction of the Secretary; nor can he touch a dollar of it, except in the manner ordained by the Constitution, that is, "in consequence of appropriations made by law." Where the money shall be deposited—where the Treasury shall be —is subject, with certain limitations, to the order of the Secretary; but, after it is put in the treasury, no power, known to the Constitution, but Congress, can take it, or any part of it, out.

It is understood that it has been the practice of the Secretary of the Treasury to transfer the public money from one bank to another, when it was wanted for the public service, at a place where there happened to be no deposits. When this transfer was to any branch of the Bank of the United States, it seems not to be liable to any objection, as the mother bank and all its branches are the Bank of the United States, and such removal of the money may be legally considered as no more than a removal from one apartment of the Bank to another. If such a removal has been made to a State Bank, then it has been so far honestly done as to have had in view only the public service and a manifest convenience, which justifies the motive, if not the act. Can any such palliation be offered for the transfer of the money from the Bank of the United States, where it was deposited in the treasury, to another bank in the same place; at the distance of a few hundred yards? It is impossible to shield the act with the motive in such a case.

But I do not mean to concede that this practice, in its best shape, and most favorable circumstances, can be justified. I find no law, in the Constitution or out of it, to warrant it, and the convenience of the Treasury cannot make the law. I adhere to my principle, that the money of the U. States, once put into the Treasury, cannot be taken out by any body, or for any purpose, "but in consequence of appropriations made by law." It is no impossible or difficult thing for the Secretary to have places of deposit, to have treasuries, so selected, that no inconvenience will be suffered in making disbursements in any part of the United States. The Bank Charter provides for such cases, without any interference with the Constitutional provision, and the security it was intended to give to the public treasure. The 15th section of the act provides that, whenever required by the Secretary of the Treasury, the said corporation shall give the necessary facilities for transferring the public funds from place to place, within the United States, and for distributing the same to the public creditors, &c. Thus these transfers of the public funds, the only ones contemplated by the law, from place to place, are, in the first place, to be required for the public service, to be distributed to the public creditors, and, when so required, they are to be made by the Bank, and not by the Secretary. He is to judge when any such transfer is necessary, and to make the requisition for it to the Bank; but the making the transfers, the giving of the facilities necessary for it, is the duty and the right of the Bank. The Bank is to choose and determine the manner and means of performing this duty; the bodies or persons to whom the transfer shall be made; the facilities it will use or adopt for making the transfer to the place required, and for the distribution of the funds transferred to the public creditors. This is all to be done by the Bank, at the discretion and under the direction of the Bank, and on the responsibility of the Bank; and therefore until the money be actually paid and distributed to the creditors, it is, to every legal intent, in the Bank, in the treasury. The Secretary requires to have so much money put at such a place, and all the rest is left to the Bank, the Secretary having no right to designate or order that it shall then be put into this or that hand, or this or that Bank. If the funds are transferred, the Bank has done all that the law imposes on it, and all that it authorizes the Secretary to demand.

If this be the sound, constitutional principle and provision,—and there is no ambiguity in the language of the Constitution or the Act of Congress—then I ask by what authority, by what "appropriation made by law," has the Secretary of the Treasury made enormous drafts on the Bank of the United States, or the Treasury of the United States, payable to the Girard Bank, both in this city? Is the Girard Bank a "public creditor" to whom this distribution of the public money has been made; or has any act or appropriation of Congress directed this payment? What now secures this money from the absolute power of the Secretary? He may again transfer it to any other place at his pleasure, by the same authority by which he put it in the Girard Bank, and so without any limitation of time or place, any restriction upon the act or the motive.

Was it right for the Bank to pay these drafts? I think it was—they were drawn and certified by the proper officers of the Treasury; the money demanded was the money of the United States, and it was not for the Bank to undertake to decide, in a summary way, a question in which the Bank was an interested party. If these officers have transcended their powers, and violated the Constitution and their trust, it is to Congress they must answer; and we hope that Congress will call upon them to do so, that the law may be vindicated.

A system of vindictive persecution has been carried on against this Institution, and all concerned in it, and it is well to keep the persecutors in the wrong to the end as they have been from the beginning. The day of retribution must arrive, unless our Constitution and the Government are never to be restored to the people.

The Chesapeake and Ohio Canal.—This great public work is at length completed, and in full operation from the District of Columbia to the head of the Falls, at Harper's Ferry. Large quantities of merchandise and produce are afloat on it, passing daily east and west. The Point of Rocks is now the point of attraction, and really presents, as we are told, an animating scene. Rail Road Cars and Canal Boats, constantly arriving, interchanging passengers and cargoes, and then departing—the bustle and confusion of a little village suddenly arisen, as it were out of the earth, and actually doing the business of a commercial emporium—its inhabitants hardly yet acquainted with each other, and very often outnumbered by the transient strangers, who throng thither in pursuit of business and pleasure—the very novelty itself, of two great public enterprizes so long at war with each other, just going into harmonious operation upon the spot which may be called the battle ground; and that spot, so lately unknown, save to the wild foxes of the mountains—in a word, the noblest exhibitions of art and nature, contending for mastery, are the rich reward of those who may find it convenient to make an excursion upon the Canal, via the Point of Rocks. —Frederick Times, Nov. 14.

Geography of Mars.—In this planet we discern, with perfect distinctness, the outlines of what may be continents and seas. Of these, the former are distinguished by that ruddy color which characterizes the light of this planet, (which always appears red and fiery,) and indicates, no doubt, an ochrey tinge in the general soil, like what the red sandstone districts on the Earth may possibly offer to the inhabitants of Mars, only more decided.—Contrasted with this, (by a general law in optics,) the seas, as we may call them, appear greenish.—These spots, however, are not always to be seen equally distinct, though, when seen, they offer always the same appearance. This may arise from the planet not being entirely destitute of atmosphere and clouds; and what adds greatly to the probability of this is the appearance of brilliant white spots at its poles, which have been conjectured, with a great deal of probability, to be snow; as they disappear when they have been long exposed to the sun, and are greatest when just emerging from the long night of their polar winter.—By watching the spots during a whole night, and on successive nights, it is found that Mars has a rotation on an axis in a period of 24h. 36m. 21s. in the same direction as the Earth's, or from west to east.—Cabinet Cyclopædia.

Waste of Corn in Agriculture.—It is estimated that only one third of the seed corn sown on the best land grows; the other two thirds are destroyed. The number of cultivated acres in Great Britan and Ireland amounts to 47,000,000; 30,000,000 of which are under the plough. Two fifths of the letter, or 12,000,000 acres, are annually under the cereal crops. The average allowance of seed for the three kinds of corn may be stated at four bushels and two thirds per acre. The quantity of seed thus annually sown thus amounts to 7,000,000 quarterly. If two thirds of this quantity are rendered unproductive by some agency which has hitherto been uncontrolled, then 4,666,666 quarters of corn are annually wasted! The quantity thus lamentably wasted would support more than 1,000,000 of human beings.—Quarterly Jour. of Agri.

Geographical Annual.—Another equally beautiful, and, for all useful purposes, far more vaulable presentation volume, is the Geographical Annual, or Family Cabinet Atlas, for 1834, just published by Carey, Lea & Blanchard. It is novel in its plan, and beautiful in its execution—comprising ninety nine exquisitely engraved maps, each accompanied by neat letter press tables—the whole supplying, with distinctness and accuracy, the greatest quantity of geographical information in the smallest possible compass. It is elegantly bound in embossed leather, and handsomely gilded.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

LATEST FROM MEXICO.

The brig Spark, arrived at New Orleans, sailed from Vera Cruz on the 12th ult. A letter, received in New York, states that a few minutes before the Spark sailed, an express arrived from Mexico, bringing news that a general engagement had taken place between St. Anna and the rebel troops, in which the latter were totally defeated. Duran escaped to the mountains with his cavalry, and Arista retreated to Guanaxuato with the remnant of his troops. St. Anna had possession of the main entrance to the latter city, and a deputation had come out with propositions to surrender the place, to prevent its being taken by storm.

From Barbadoes.—By the arrival of the brig Mary Helen, at Alexandria, D. C., we are in possession of a file of the Barbadian, from the 31st August to the 26th of October.

The past is represented to have been the longest and severest hot season ever remembered in that Island.

Governor Sir Lionel Smith, in a message to the Colonial Legislature, communicated to that body, on the 15th of October, the Bill for the abolition of Slavery in the Colonies, and also Mr. Stanley's Circular Despatch. His Excellency recommends all necessary co-operation on their part to give effect to the designs of the people of England. The Proclamation of the King was also communicated, declaring the entire abolition of slavery throughout the West India Colonies, after the first of August, 1834.

Great complaints have been made, and a memorial prepared to exhibit the injustice to the Barbadians, of the principle proposed for the distribution of the parliamentary grant of twenty millions, as the slave compensation.

From Antigua.—A meeting of the proprietors of estates and others interested in slave property in this Island was held on the 11th day of September on the subject of the Abolition of Slavery, in which it was resolved that a temporizing system would only prolong their difficulties—that the plan of apprenticeship would be one of anxious irritation to all parties—and that the proffered compensation was inadequate. They also resolved that they wery willing to accede to entire emancipation of their slaves, on condition of being paid for them at the rate of thirty pounds sterling per negro, and upon an exemption to the Island from the payment of the 4 1-2 per cent duty.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

We understand that the President has offered the office of Attorney General to Benjamin Butler, Esq. of Albany, and it is said he will accept the appointment.—Nat. Gaz.

The Detroit Journal contains an interesting account of the laying of the corner stone of an episcopal church in the town of Tecumseh.

Michigan and Florida are likely soon to become integral portions of our confederacy—the original number of which will then be doubled.

HARRISBURGH CHRONICLE—EXTRA. Published, Twice a Week, by Hugh Hamilton & Son.—Reports of Proceedings of the Pennsylvania Legislature.—The Harrisburgh Chronicle will contain a concise and faithful report of the proceedings and debates of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, which will commence its session in Harrisburgh, on the first Tuesday of December next. The Senior Editor will report in one of the legislative branches, and an experienced and competent Reporter is engaged to attend in the other. Such reports will be furnished as are calculated to put the reader in possession of a history of the Session of 1833 4; to do which, the faculty of condensation shall be employed for the benefit of the reader, even though it may sometimes be unpleasant to the legislator; for the topics that must, of course, come up for discussion, will be more numerous, important, and diversified than they have been heretofore, and there is every probability that the exciting questions that must necessarily be agitated in Congress, will also become exciting questions in the Legislature of the S ate, and add to the interest of the Session.

The proceedings of the Legislature of the State are full of interest to the citizen, and an intimate acquaintance with them is almost an indispensable requisite, when he comes forward on election day to exercise his sovereignty in the capacity of a voter. Hence every citizen ought to possess a fair and faithful report of the proceedings, and it is hoped that those who do not choose the Chronicle will take some other paper for this purpose.

For the whole year, in advance, 3 00

Lukens & Co. is offered for sale.—Its situation is both desirable and healthy, possessing local advantages superior to any mill in the west, with a spring of pure, soft water, yielding a superabundance for all purposes—propelled by an engine sufficiently powerful, and to which has recently been added an entire New Machine for the manufacture of paper. Its location is about two miles from the city, on the Eastern Turnpike. The subscribers have no hesitation in believnig it offers inducements to purchasers highly advantageous.

The terms will be rendered satisfactory, and but a small portion of the purchase money required at the time of sale, with an extended credit for the residue, being determined to make an early disposal. It will be sold low. Application made personally, or by communication, to either of the subscribers, will be attended to.

A Partner Wanted.

THE Subscriber, being possessed of a valuable property in the Borough of Brownsville, in the county of Fayette, and state of Pennsylvania, in a public part of the town, consisting of two and a half lots of ground, bounded by Water street on the north, and the National Road on the south, say 150 feet on each, by 180 feet in depth, on which are erected one large three story Brick Dwelling House, one two story Brick Dwelling House, one Brick Foundry, one three story Stone and Brick Engine Shop; the whole of which are finished for the purposes intended. A considerable business has been and still is carried on in Manufacturing Steam Engines for Steam Boats, Mills, Furnaces, &c. &c.; the Castings for which are made at the foundry; also, other Castings, such as Grates, Stoves, and a variety of other articles, all of which are in demand. The subscriber is fully sensible that an extensive and profitable business could be carried on by an accession of Capital; he therefore wishes to sell one half the above described property to some person as a partner, who would have a few thousand dollars. Brownsville is well situated for such an establishment, being on the Monongahela river, which is navigable the greater part of the year: plenty of good stone coal in the whole vicinity, and in the neighborhood of a number of Furnaces, and as healthy a situation as any in the United States. A further description is deemed unnecessary, as any person wishing to purchase will come and view the premises.

DAILY PAPER AT HARRISBURGH.—The subscribers propose to publish a Daily Paper during the coming session of the Legislature, provided a sufficient number of subscribers are procured to warrant the expense. The necessity of a daily journal at the seat of government, impartial as to politics, and giving the debates of both houses, fully, faithfully, and daily, has long since been acknowledged. Such a paper cannot be sustained in Harrisburg, unless the citizens of other sections of the state come forward and aid in its support. At the present stage of our improvement system, and fiscal conserns of the commonwealth, a daily paper, the statements of which can be depended upon, published at the seat of government, must be a desideratum of all parties. We therefore shall expect that exertions will be made in every section of the state to procure us subscribers.

The Daily Pennsylvania Intelligencer will be printed on a half imperial sheet, for five dollars (in advance,) during the session. It will not only contain full and impartial daily reports of the proceedings of the Legislature, but will contain a summary of the proceedings of Congress, besides news and miscellaneous reading. ☞Post Masters and Agents procuring four subscribers, shall receive a fifth copy gratis.

FAIRBANK'S PLATFORM SCALES.

THESE scales are constructed upon an improved principle; are fitted up with great care by the manufacturers, and warranted to weigh with accuracy from half a pound to 12,000. Being placed in, and forming part of, the floor, the process of weighing is performed with ease and facility, while the space they occupy may be improved as a passage way or for other purposes.

The construction of these scales is such that they are little liable to derangement of wear, and their perfect operation will be guaranteed for any reasonable length of time.

The usual objection, that a new method of weighing cannot be safely entrusted to unskilful hands, is obviated by the use of the improved BALANCE, concerning which are the following remarks in the Journal of the Frankiin Institute, of the state of Pennsylvania, for the promotion of the Mechanic Arts, for June, 1833. (Edited by Thos. P. Jones, M. D., late Superintendent of the Patent Office, at Washington, Professor of Mechanics in the Franklin Institute, &c.

"The Messrs. Fairbanks, some time since, obtained a patent for a Platform Weighing Machine, and this mode of adjuating and graduating the Beam of the Balance, and the weights, was devised by them with a view to its employment with the before mentioned machine. We have had an opportunity of examining one of their balances, and have been much pleased with it: this examination, however, was not necessary to the conviction that it possesses a just claim to the character of a real improvement, the whole arrangement being so simple as to enable any person to perceive that it is well adapted to the purpose contemplated, that of facilitating the business of weighing, and more especially of heavy articles."

The subscriber, as Agent, will receive orders for the above Scales, which will be made in this city to order. They can be seen at his Warehouse, No. 84, Front street.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

THE Subscribers, Trustees of the New Philadelphia Society, at Phillipsburgh, Beaver county, Pennsylvania, offer for sale the following property, to wit:

1	tract of land	containing	330 acres
1	do	do	330
1	do	do	67
1	do	do	7
1	do	do	40
other lots, containing about			6

The above lands lie in one body, fronting about two miles upon the Ohio river—immediately opposite the mouth of Big Beaver creek, and the Beaver Division of the Pennsylvania Canal. The land is rich, and a part of it under a high state of cultivation—its location pleasant and healthy. The improvements upon the same are valuable, including the town of Phillipsburgh, late the residence of Count Leon, and the New Philadelphia Society. The town contains about 40 Dwelling Houses, now in order; some of them brick houses and two stories high. A large and spacious Hotel, a Store house, Church, a number of Shops, for mechanics, Stables, Barns, and other out houses. Also, two large new buildings, lately erected, but not yet finished, one of brick, the other of frame (the latter suitable for a manufactory) a very extensive public garden, and also fruit trees of various kinds. The property has also attached to it the right of a ferry across the Ohio, which is valuable, and becoming more so every day.

The above property is situated in the midst of a wealthy and prosperous country, distant about 28 miles below Pittsburgh, and one mile from Beaver, the seat of justice for Beaver county---and having a view for many miles up and down the Ohio, and of the country to a great distance around.

The subscribers are confident in saying that few situations could be found, presenting greater facilities to the farmer, mechanic, the manufacturer, and others--- a soil rich and productive---the neighborhood abounding in coal---well timbered and watered, and, by means of the Pennsylvania Canal, and steamboat navigation, a cheap and ready conveyance to market, and a communication with other places is ensured.

The property is susceptible of divisions into farms, or for the location of new towns, or for the extension of the present one.

Should it not be sold on or before the first day of January next, it will then be offered at public sale, upon the premises, to the highest and best bidder.

It will be sold in a body, or in parcels, to suit purchasers.

Terms of sale will be reasonable.

Information can be had by enquiring of the subscribers, two of whom live in the neighborhood, and one on the premises.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S

☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,

From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer s vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradully increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
